HIS EXCELLENCY THE MOST REV.
GEORGE L. LEECH, D.D., J.C.D.
Bishop of Harrisburg

Apostolic zeal for the spread and preservation of the kingdom of Christ has always been the compelling force in the life of this dauntless shepherd of souls. With true missionary spirit and prophetic vision, his unfailing interest and courage have made it possible to continue the system of education that will fit us to spiritually, intellectually, socially, and physically to cope with the problems of the future.

THE REV. R. J. MAHER
Superintendent of Schools

A fine example of leadership — Catholic leadership — Father Maher is keenly interested in the life and learning of the students of York Catholic.

ADMINISTRATION

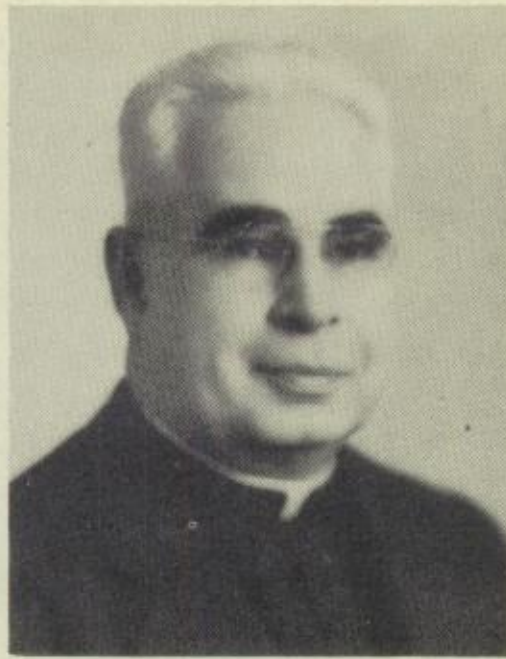

THE REV. JOSEPH P. KEALY

Principal

A spiritual leader—an exemplary executive . . . a thoughtful counselor always more than willing to assist the student in solving his problems.

FACULTY

Reverend Joseph P. Kealy, Principal, looks somewhat surprised as he pushes aside some of his multiple tasks to oblige a persistent photographer.

Sister M. Georgiana, Prefect of Rosters, taking a moment's respite from the tedious work of checking credits and adjusting rosters for the students of Y. C.

Sister Maria Leona, Prefect of Discipline, prepares for her next class or perhaps for the next classes!

Miss Mary Weaver, Secretary, obligingly lays aside for a moment the thousands of tasks that accumulate on her desk every hour of the day.

Father Kealy and the seniors discuss problems relative to their Religion IV class.

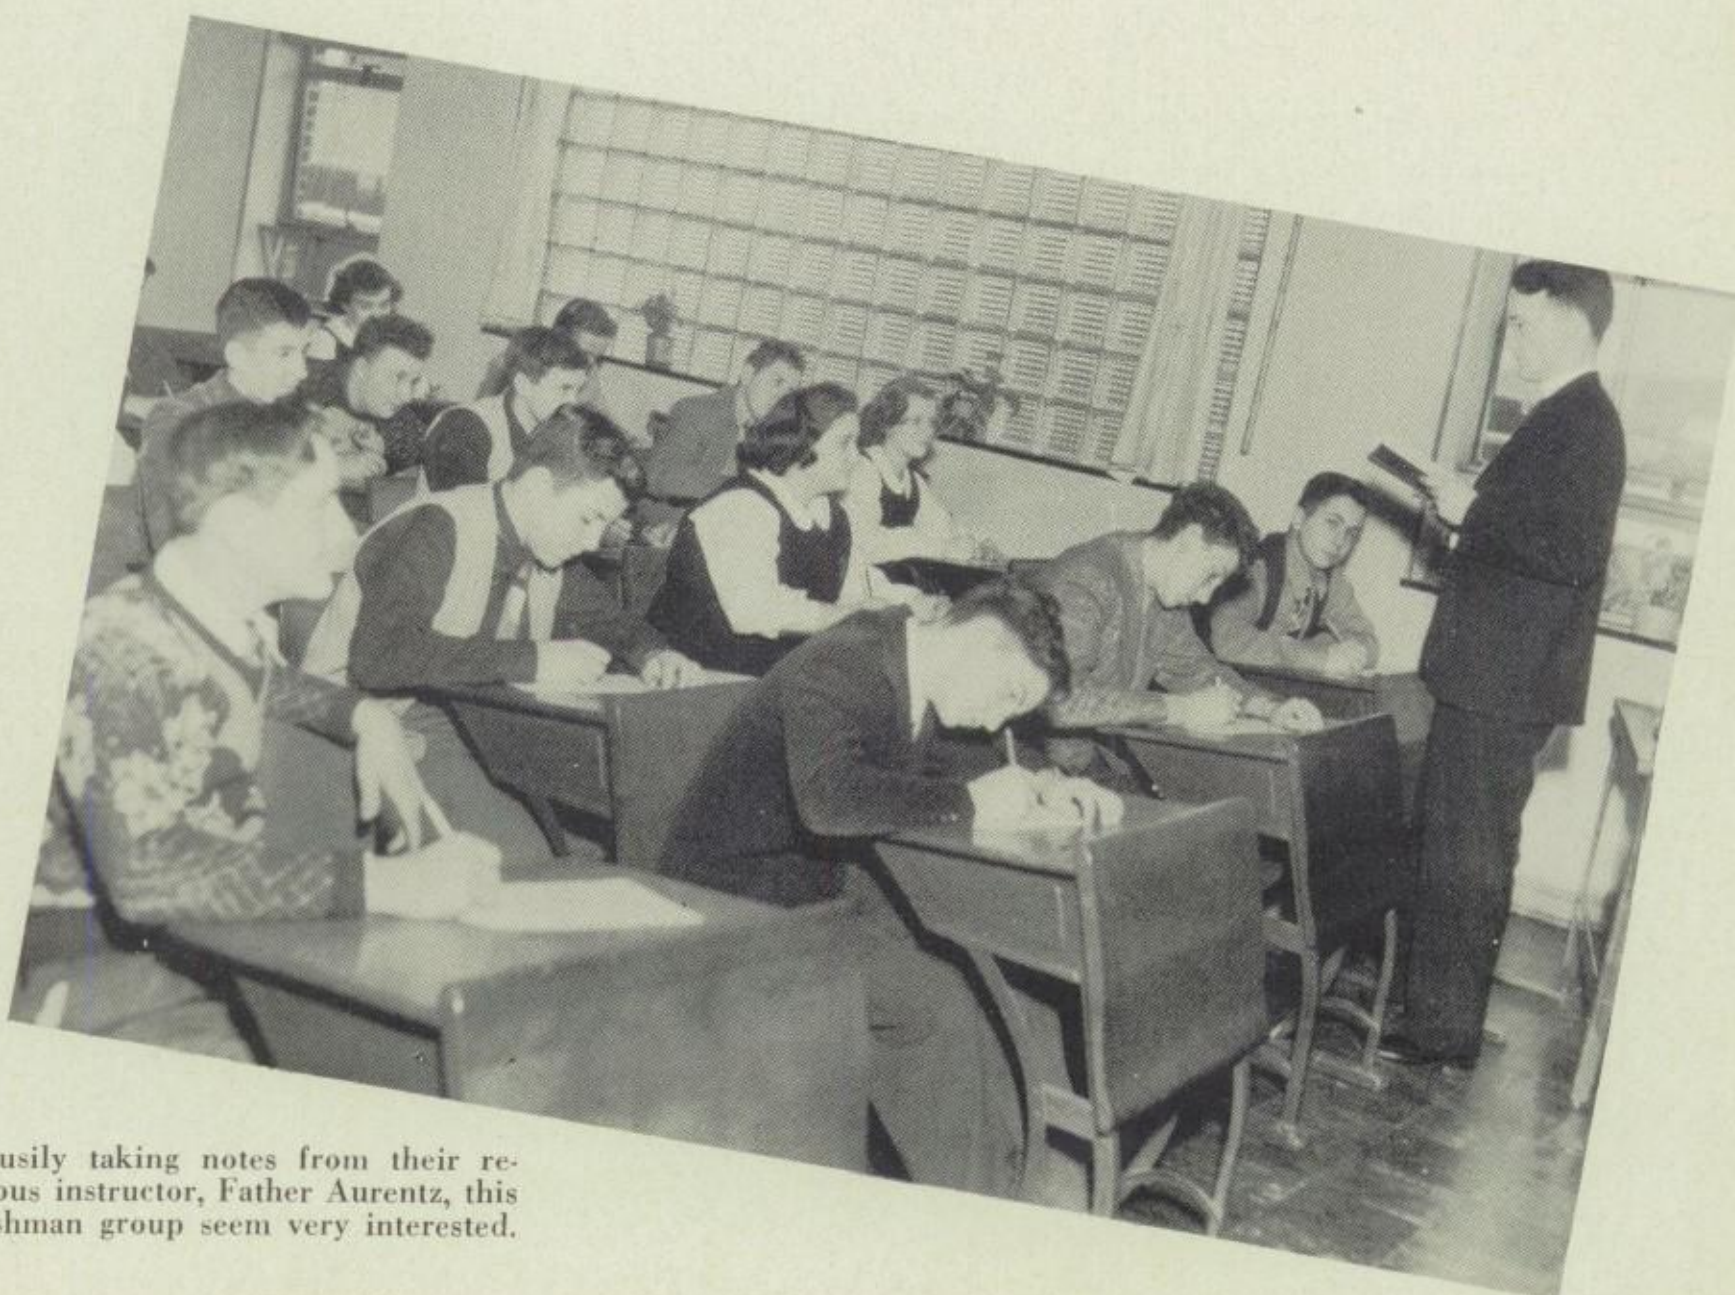

Sister Maria Norbert dramatizes the Ecclesiastical Cycle as the season of Lent approaches.

Mission Representatives at York Catholic are examining the Diocesan monthly returns. Contributions for home and foreign missions place their school high in the register of those contributing to this great cause. The mission leaders of each class are: (L. to R.) Patricia Howard, Kathleen Chambers, Rosita Frizzi, Mary Cuffaro, James Allen, Mary Helen Clemons, Nancy Eyler, and Michelene Cacciola, Maurice Meckley, Lloyd Mullen.

Father Dougherty explains the religious text to his absorbed group of Freshmen.

Busily taking notes from their religious instructor, Father Aurentz, this Freshman group seem very interested.

Bingo? Not exactly. These French II students are participating in the fascinating "Je l'ai!" a game which tests them in the great truths of our Catholic faith as well as in French vocabulary and aural skill.

Busily typing and taking stenography, the commercial students taught by Sister M. Thecla have no time to peep at the camera. Every second counts when one is striving for accuracy and speed.

Interesting? I'll say; especially when The American Observer and Sister Del Carmen are present.

What are they seeking? This Civics Class must be well informed and there is no better way than familiarity with World News of the Week.

Librarians Kathleen Chambers and Marian Frantz put finishing touches to the bulletin board Catholic Press display.

Pennsylvania and Harrisburg Forensic participants:

Seated: Catherine Monaghan, Loretta Steinfelt, Virginia Loeffler, Madeleine Algano, Mary Merges. Standing: Lloyd Mullen, Damian Reed, Joseph Heidler, James Holtzer, Michael Kristick, Ronald Heidler, James McCleaf.

Faithful to her daily chore, Vivian Noel dusts her favorite trophy.

BIOLOGY

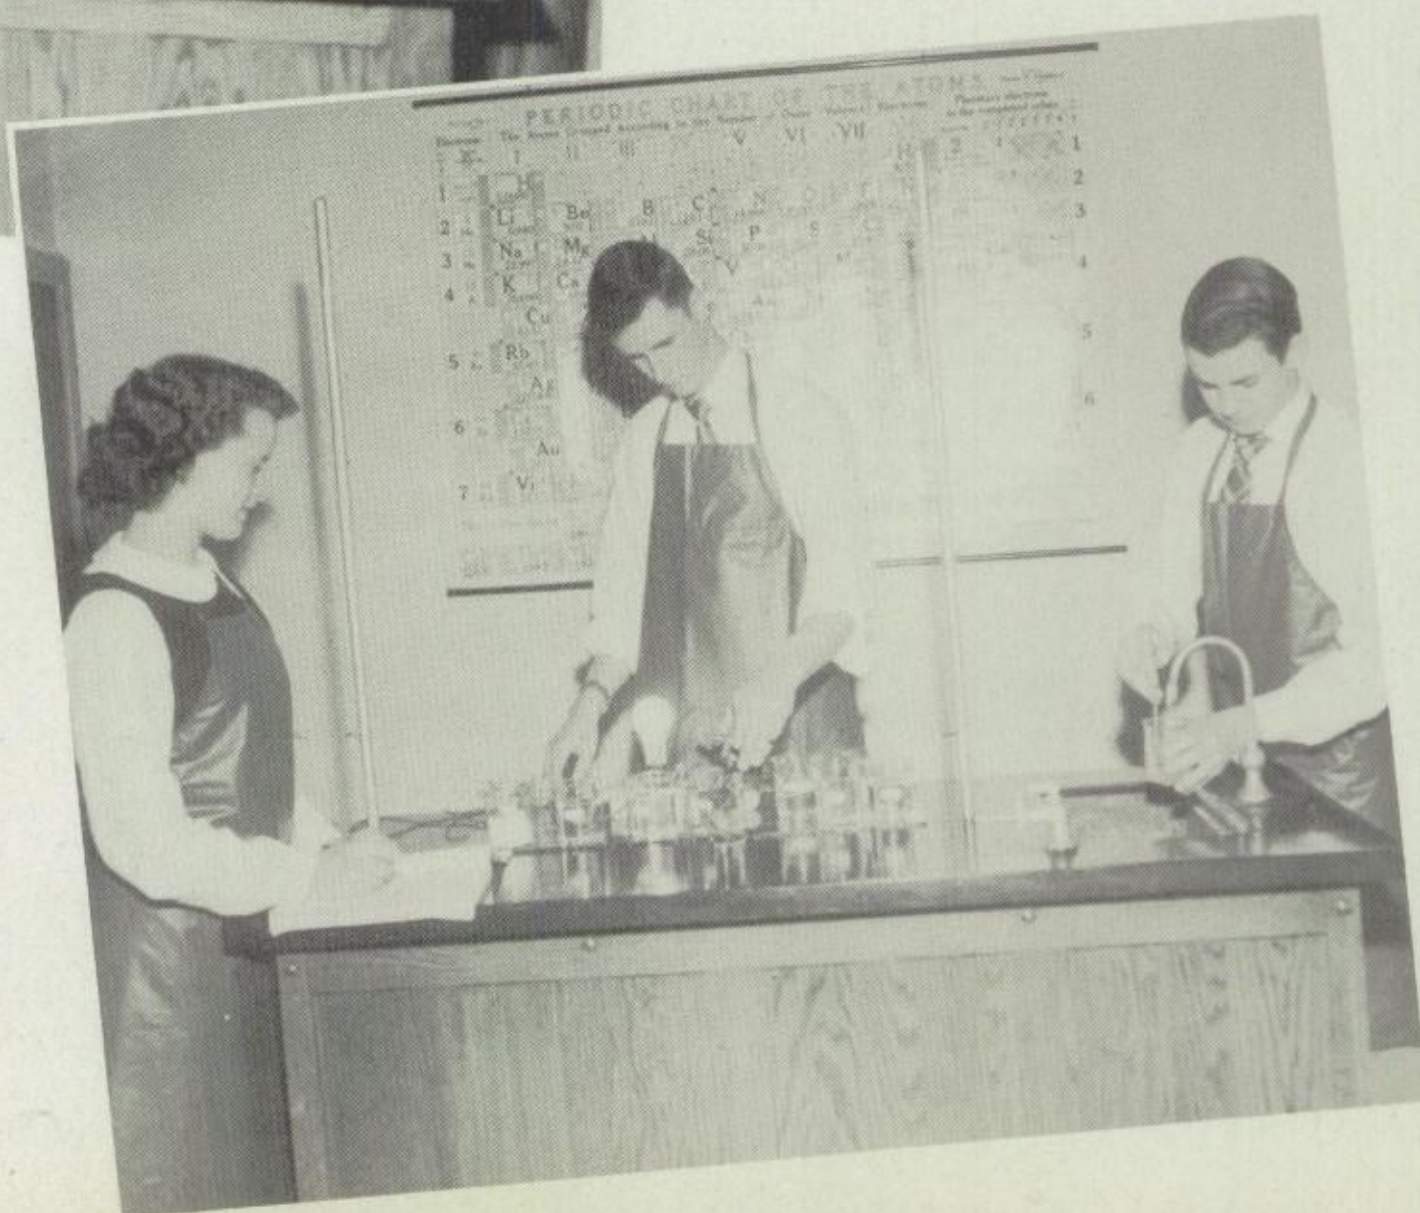

Robert Ember, Patrick Smith, Lloyd Seifert, Frank Atkinson, Rita Nolin, Mary Hannigan, Judith Weeks, and Mary Monaghan watch the wonders of God's universe revealed through the bioscope. Sister Mary Stanislaus points out the highlights to be noted.

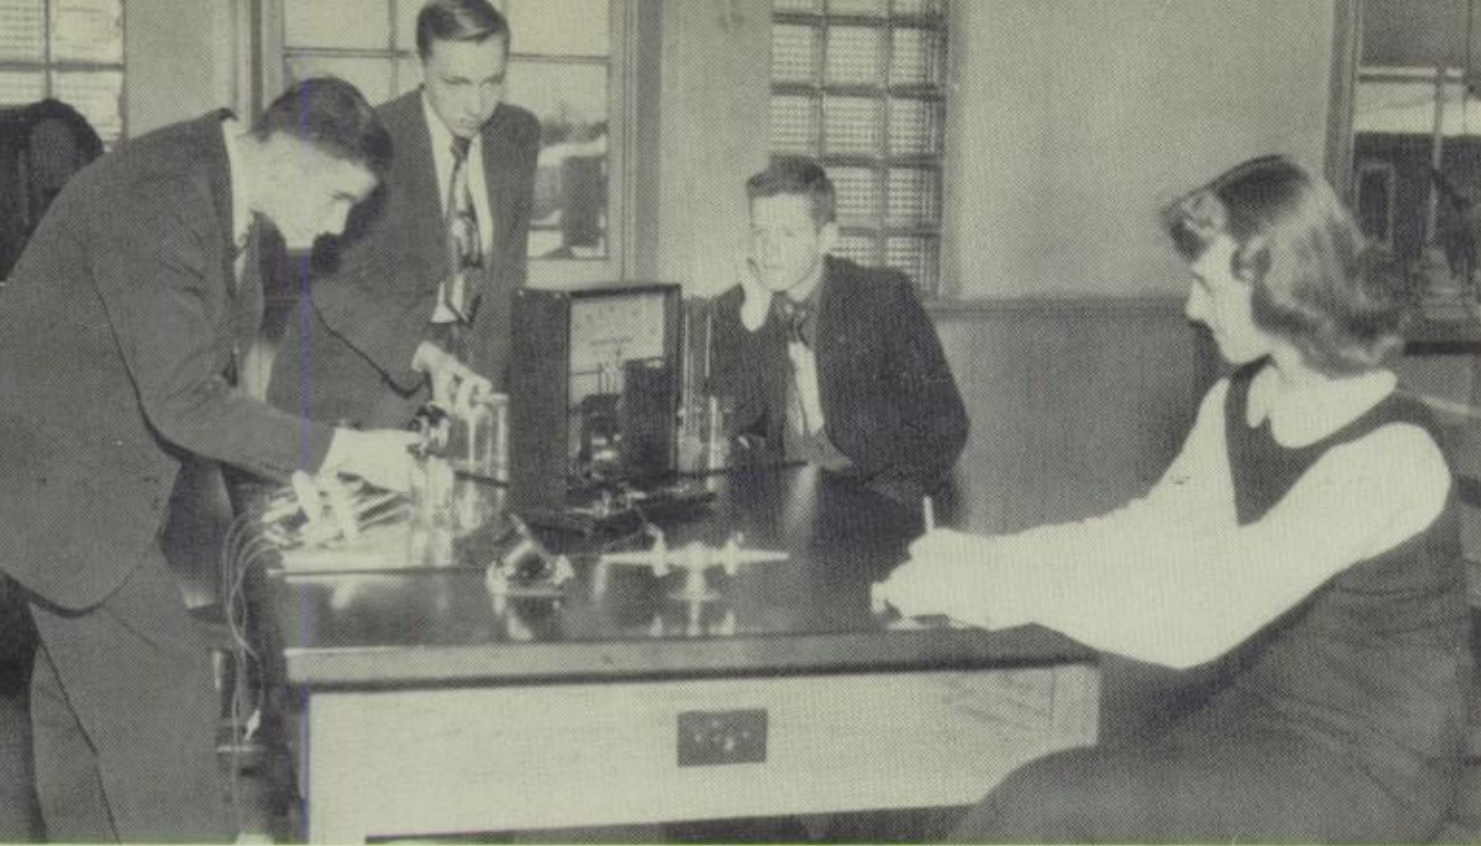

GENERAL SCIENCE

Richard Fitzgerald demonstrates a model hot water heating system as Lawrence Kristick, John Fitzpatrick, Leo Phillip, Richard Bowman, Charles Taylor, Bernard Bievenour, and Albert Loeper look on.

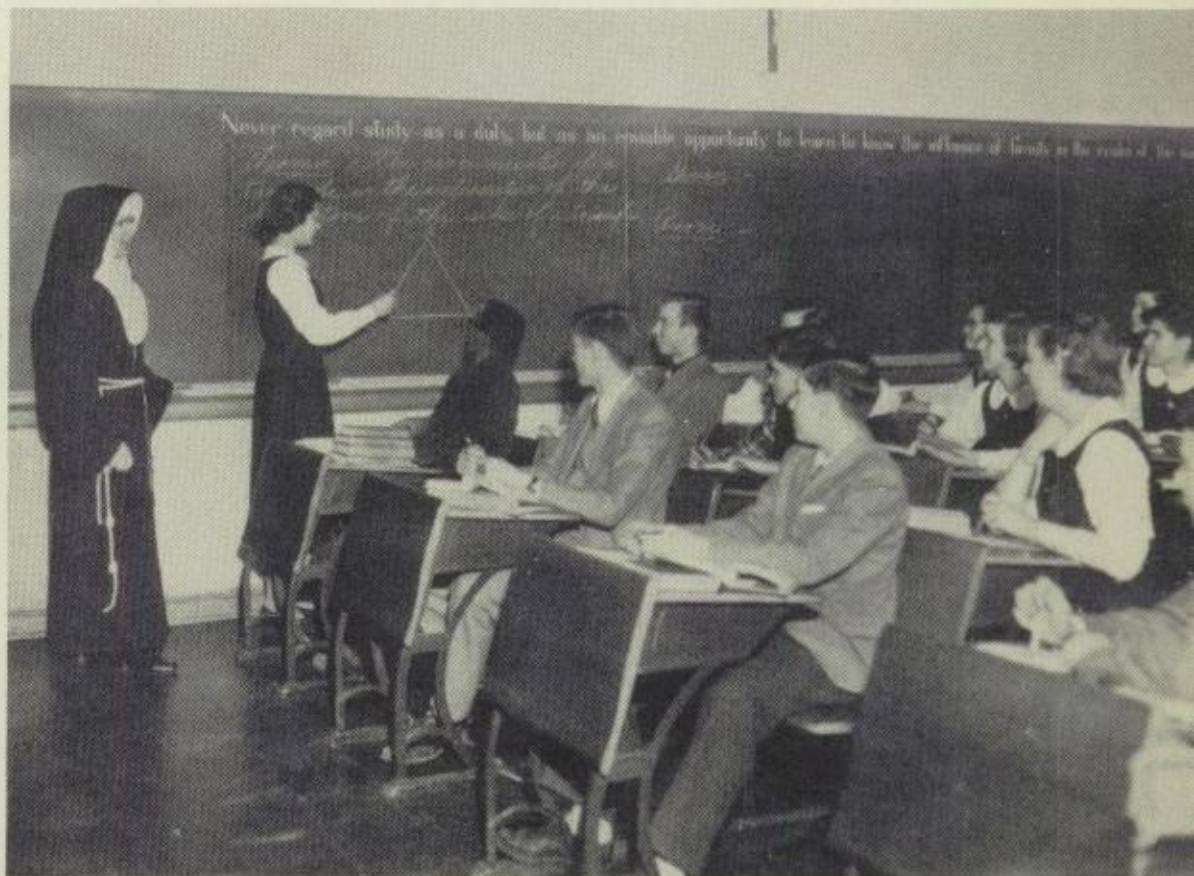

As Thomas Gammache and Kirk Brennan test conductivity of various solutions, Shirley Huson keeps the record.

Joseph Brennan and Wayne Eline demonstrate electrolysis while Lawrence Krepps observes and Barbara Sheffer records the findings.

Sister Georgiana's plane geometry class seem very much interested in Barbara Binder's explanation. It would seem that mathematics too has charms for this group.

Winners of certificates in the nationwide Latin Examinations sponsored by the Association for Promotion of the Study of Latin.

A job well done brings pleased satisfaction to both teacher and pupils if we can believe what we see on the faces of Sister Alice Cecilia and her girls of Home Ec. I.

These lassies initiate their sewing course by making dainty aprons out of feed bags, but you would never know it if we did not tell you.

English classes take time out to enjoy the Readers' Digest — particularly the vocabulary study.

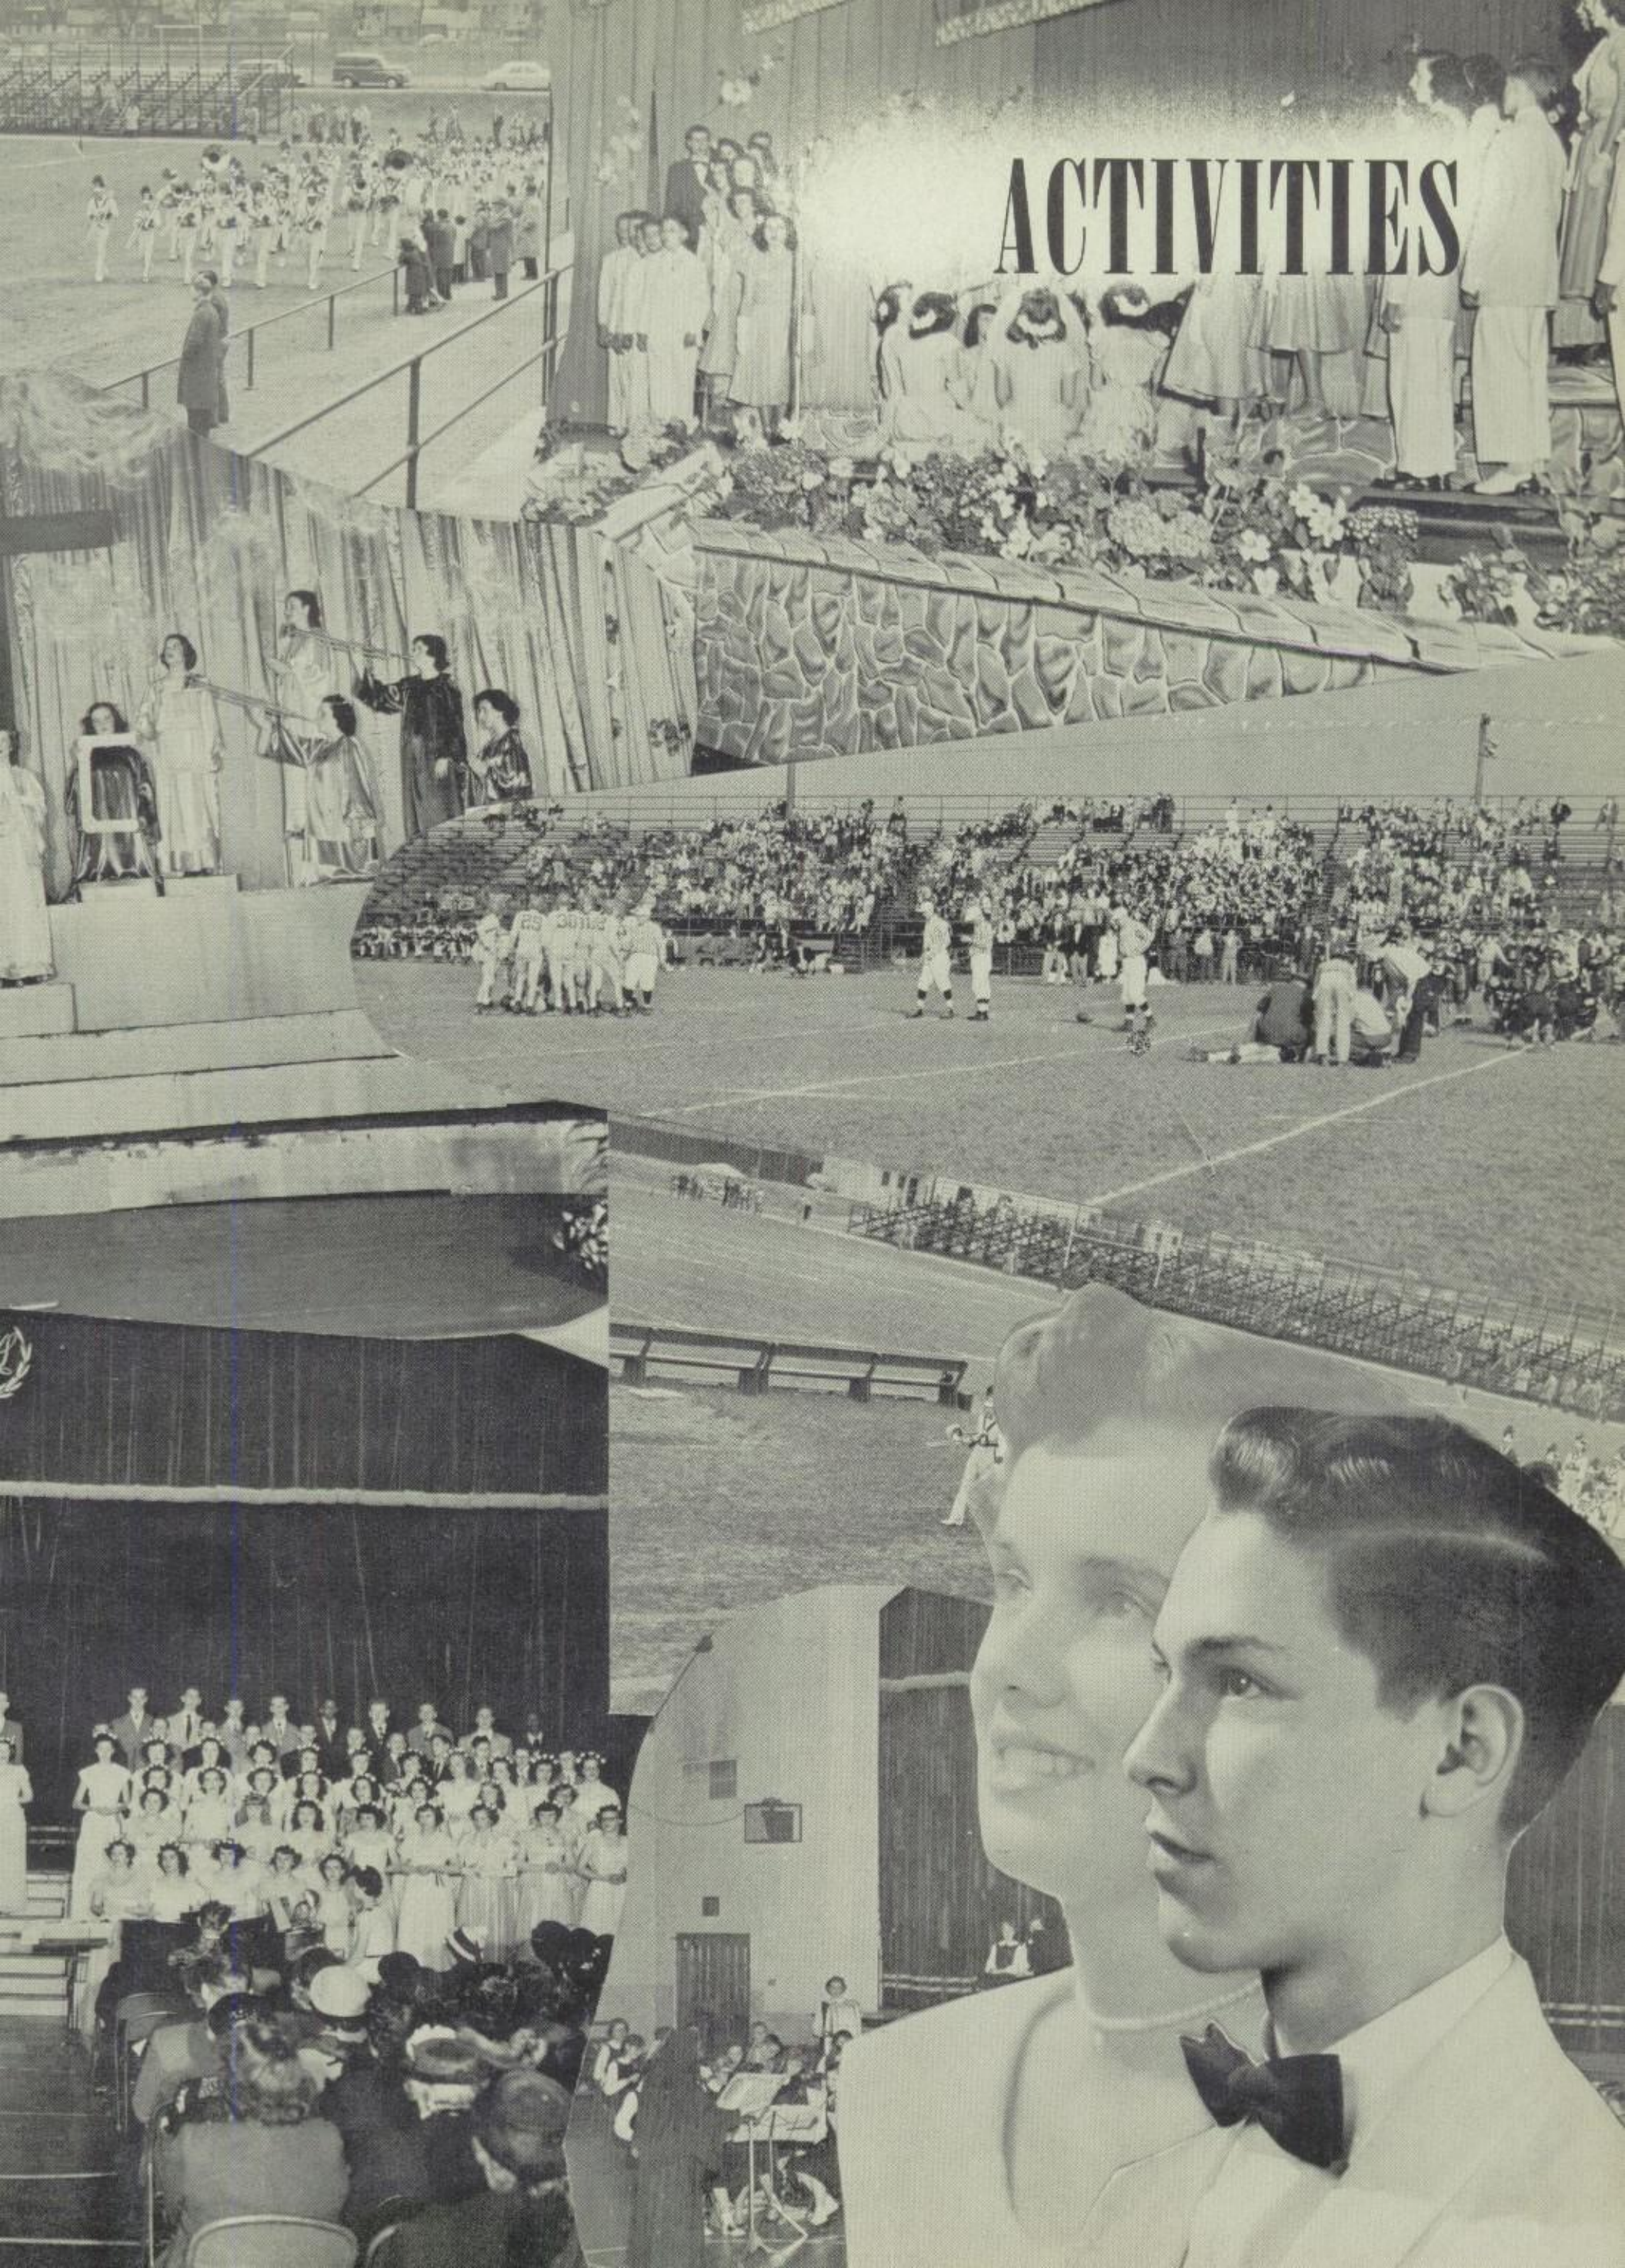

Christmas is very much in evidence in the beautifully decorated Home Ec Department and you'd smile too if you had a jar of cookies made by your very own self to give your mother for Christmas.
